BRITISH HISTORY GROUP.

March saw an interesting coverage of The Railways. Looking forward to April, when we will cover 'Mining'.

New faces were welcomed and perhaps the aims of the group ought to be recorded here.

At the opening meetings it was agreed that the group would be inclusive of all, in that, after a subject had been agreed upon by the group, anyone at the following meeting wishing to make a presentation would be free to do so. The presentation should relate to the selected subject and the history of Britain. It is to be presented in the given 10-15 mins. allotted individually at the start of that meeting. Discussion on the short talk could then take place over the following 10-15 minutes.

This might be considered restrictive. The opportunity to join an in-depth discussion group is open to those wanting a wider view, by signing up, at the next general meeting, to join the 'World History' group soon to be started.

Re: trip to Aberfoyle

Oh the beauty of the hills.
The sparkling of the sea
The vastness of the lochs
The endless cups of tea
The contrast of the Peace Camp
Standing in all the calm
Trying to defend the world
From greed and hate and harm
Thank goodness there are still some souls
Prepared to spend their lives
To show us there's another way
To ensure the world survives.
